On 21 February I wrote you a letter regarding Contract [redacted]. To date there has been no reply, however, a letter from [redacted] recommended not to have a formal presentation to a large group including many IFA people. After thinking about it for awhile it appears that he is right, so personnel in attendance will be restricted to those who will, perhaps, be most sympathetic with the research investigation.

It appears that my letter of 21 February is still completely valid and requires some action on your part. The only planned change will be in paragraph two in which the list of personnel attending will be more restricted than indicated.

Sincerely,
